Report of Independent Auditors

To the Board of Trustees of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and its affiliates (the "Institute"), which comprise the consolidated statements of financial position as of June 30, 2024 and 2023, and the related consolidated statements of activities and of cash flows for the years then ended, including the related notes (collectively referred to as the "consolidated financial statements").

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Institute as of June 30, 2024 and 2023, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (US GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of the Institute and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Institute's ability to continue as a going concern for one year after the date the consolidated financial statements were issued.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with US GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the consolidated financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with US GAAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Institute's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Institute's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control-related matters that we identified during the audit.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

(in thousands of dollars)

1. Organization

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (Rensselaer) is a nonsectarian, coeducational institution composed of five schools: Engineering; Science; Architecture; Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences; and the Lally School of Management; as well as an interdisciplinary degree in Information Technology. Rensselaer offers more than 140 programs at the undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral levels. Students are encouraged to work in interdisciplinary programs that allow them to combine scholarly work from several departments or schools. Rensselaer provides rigorous, engaging, interactive learning environments and campus-wide opportunities for leadership, collaboration, and creativity. Rensselaer Technology Park is a university related park for technology ventures seeking a unique environment focused on the interface between industry and education.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

a. Basis of Presentation and Tax Status

The financial statements are presented on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) and have been prepared to focus on the Institute as a whole and to present balances and transactions according to the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions.

The accompanying financial statements include the Rensselaer Hartford Graduate Center, Inc., a branch of the Institute focused on education for working professionals, which is a separate entity consolidated in the financial statements. Rensselaer and the Center are collectively referred to herein as the Institute. All significant inter-organizational accounts have been eliminated in consolidation.

During fiscal year 2024, the campus in Hartford, CT, which housed the Hartford Graduate Center programs, was closed and the property was sold. Rensselaer @ Work online graduate and certificate degree programs still exist but are now offered of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's main campus. In July 2024, the Rensselaer Hartford Graduate Center, Inc. entity was dissolved (see subsequent event described in Note 15).

The Institute is a not-for-profit organization as described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is generally exempt from income taxes pursuant to the Code. In accordance with accounting standards, the Institute evaluates its income tax status each year.

b. Net Asset Classification

The Institute is incorporated in and subject to the laws of New York, which incorporate the provisions outlined in the New York Prudent Management of Institution Funds Act (NYPMIFA). Under NYPMIFA, the assets of donor-imposed restricted funds may be appropriated by the Institute for expenditure. Net assets having similar characteristics have been classified in the following categories:

- Net assets without donor restrictions are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations and may be designated for specific purposes by action of the Board of Trustees or may otherwise be limited by contractual agreements with outside parties. Net assets within this classification are generally related to revenues and related expenses associated with the core activities of the Institute. In addition, investment return, changes in post-retirement liabilities and certain types of philanthropic support are also included.

June 30, 2024 and 2023

(in thousands of dollars)

- Net assets with donor restrictions are subject to donor-imposed stipulations that they be maintained permanently or until prudently appropriated by the Board of Trustees of the Institute in accordance with New York State law. Generally, the donors of these assets permit the Institute to use all or part of the investment return on these assets to support program activities, principally financial aid and instruction. Net assets within this classification are also subject to donor-imposed or legal stipulations that can be fulfilled by actions of the Institute pursuant to those stipulations or that expire with the passage of time.

Net assets consisted of the following at June 30:

	2024			2023
	Without Donor Restrictions	With Donor Restrictions	Total Net Assets	Without Donor Restrictions	With Donor Restrictions	Total Net Assets
Endowment funds	$ 261,517	$ 795,783	$ 1,057,300	$ 246,932	$ 738,344	$ 985,276

Total net assets	$ 73,172	$ 843,163	$ 916,335	$ 54,395	$ 790,342	$ 844,737

c. Consolidated Statement of Activities

The Consolidated Statement of Activities reports changes in net assets from operating and nonoperating activities. Operating activities primarily include revenues and expense related to on-going educational and research efforts as well as gifts and net return on the Institute's endowment. Operating net assets released from restrictions include support for such program activities as financial aid and instruction. Contributions whose donor-imposed restrictions are met in the same reporting period are reported within without donor restrictions net assets. All other contributions with donor-imposed restrictions are reported as with donor restrictions revenues and are reclassified to without donor restrictions net assets when the donor-imposed restriction is satisfied. Expenses are generally reported as decreases in without donor restrictions net assets.

Nonoperating activities primarily include investment return, net of spending, changes in life income and endowment gifts, adjustments to postretirement liabilities and settlement of contingencies. Contributions restricted for the acquisition of land, buildings and equipment and specific programs are reported as with donor restrictions revenues. These contributions are reclassified to without donor restrictions net assets upon being placed in service. Contributions received of a capital nature, that is, contributions to be used for facilities and equipment or to be invested by the Institute to generate a return that will support operations, are included in nonoperating activities.

Revenues are derived from various sources as follows:

- Student related revenue* includes tuition and fee revenue from undergraduate, graduate, and working professionals, as well as apartment and dorm revenue, meal plan revenue, medical insurance fees, and other auxiliary revenue.

The Institute recognizes student-related revenue within the fiscal year in which services are provided. Institutional aid, in the form of scholarships and grants-in-aid, include amounts funded by the Institute's operations, endowment, research funds, and gifts, reduce the published price of tuition and fees, apartment and dorms, and meal plans for students receiving such aid. As such, institutional aid is referred to as a discount and represents the difference between the stated charge for student related revenue and the amount that is billed to the student and/or third parties making payments on behalf of the student. Cash payments to students in excess of published prices, excluding compensation, are reported as Student aid and fellowship expense in the consolidated statements of activities.

Payments of tuition and fees, apartment and dorms, and meals for all the terms are recognized as performance obligations are met. Because the academic term for summer spans two reporting periods, a portion of this revenue is included in deferred revenue at June 30, 2024 and 2023. Deferred revenue is shown in Note 2h.

Other auxiliary services revenue includes laptop sales to students, sales within the student union, ticket sales for athletic and community events, parking services, and other miscellaneous activities. Revenue for these items is recorded when the performance obligation is satisfied.

Student related revenue by contract is as follows:

- Contributions - Contributions, including unconditional promises to give (pledges), are recognized as revenue in the appropriate net asset class in the period received. A pledge is initially recorded at present value based on an appropriate market rate. Restricted contributions are released to without donor restrictions net assets when an expense is incurred that satisfies the donor-imposed restriction. Contributions with donor restrictions that are received and expended for the restricted purpose in the same fiscal year are recorded in net assets without donor restrictions. Contributions of assets other than cash are recorded at their estimated fair value at the date of gift. Conditional promises to give are not recognized until the conditions on which they depend are substantially met. Additional information can be found in Note 3b.
- Government grants and contracts - The Institute receives sponsored program funding from various governmental and corporate sources. The funding may represent a reciprocal transaction in exchange for an equivalent benefit in return or may be a nonreciprocal transaction in which the resources provided are for the benefit of the Institute, the funding organization's mission, or the public at large.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

June 30, 2024 and 2023

(in thousands of dollars)

Revenues from exchange transactions are recognized as the performance obligations are met, which in some cases may be as the related costs are incurred. Revenues from nonexchange transactions (contributions) may be subject to conditions in the form of both a barrier to entitlement and right of return for amounts paid (or a release from obligation to make future payments). Revenues from conditional nonexchange transactions are recognized as the barrier is met.

The Institute has been awarded approximately $73,735 of grants and contracts which have not been advanced or expended and are classified as conditional contributions as of June 30, 2024, and accordingly, are not recorded in the consolidated financial statements.

- Net investment return - Net appreciation (depreciation) in the fair value of investments, which consists of dividends and interest, realized gains and losses and the unrealized appreciation or depreciation on those investments, less investment fees, is recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Activities.

d. Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include all highly liquid debt instruments with maturity of three months or less when purchased. They are carried at cost, which approximated fair value. It has been the Institute's policy to consider short-term highly liquid investments held within the endowment and similar investment pools as investments rather than cash equivalents and has defined restricted cash as that which is legally restricted as to withdrawal and usage.

e. Accounts and Notes Receivable

Accounts and notes receivable include amounts arising from tuition and fees, Rensselaer Technology Park activity and amounts owed on research contracts. They are carried at net realizable value.

f. Investments

The Institute's investments are recorded in the consolidated financial statements at fair value. Investment income is recorded on an accrual basis, and purchase and sale transactions are recorded on a trade-date basis. Realized gains and losses are recognized on an average cost basis when securities are sold.

g. Land, Buildings and Equipment

Land, buildings and equipment are carried at cost or at fair value at the date of the gift. Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of buildings, including building components, (10-50 years) and equipment (5-20 years). All gifts of land, buildings and equipment are recorded as without donor restrictions operating activity unless explicit donor stipulations specify how the donated assets must be used. Absent explicit donor stipulations about how long those long-lived assets must be maintained; the donor restrictions are reported as being released when the donated or acquired long-lived assets are placed in service.

h. Deferred Revenue

Payments received for future periods are reported as deferred revenue. Deferred revenue includes amounts prepaid for student related revenue, sponsored research and other prepaid amounts. The Rensselaer Tech Park revenue stems primarily from building and land lease revenue and is recorded over the corresponding contract term. The activity and balances for deposits and deferred revenue from contracts with customers are shown in the following table.

i. Refundable Government Loan Funds

Amounts received from the Federal government to fund a portion of the federally sponsored student loans are ultimately refundable to the Federal government and have been reported as advances from the Federal government for student loans in the consolidated statement of financial position. The recorded value of student loan instruments approximates fair value. The authority to make new Perkins Loans ended on September 30, 2017, and final disbursements were permitted through June 30, 2018. As of June 30, 2024, the Institute has collected approximately $2,035 that is to be refunded to the Federal government.

j. Leases

The Institute reviews the terms and conditions of contracts at their inception to determine whether they contain or are leases. A lease is defined as a contract or part of a contract that provides the Institute a right to use property, plant, or equipment for a period of time in exchange for consideration. Operating lease right-of-use ("ROU") assets are included in "Right of use assets" and corresponding lease liabilities are included in "Right of use liabilities" on the Consolidated Statements of Financial Position. Finance lease ROU assets are included in "Land, buildings and equipment, net" and corresponding finance lease liabilities are included in "Finance leases payable" on the Consolidated Statements of Financial Position.

(in thousands of dollars)

Operating and Finance lease assets and liabilities are recognized for those leases whose lease term as of the contracted commencement date exceeds 12 months. The lease term is defined as the contractual right of use period and includes any extension period the Institute is reasonably certain to exercise. The ROU assets and liabilities are initially recognized at the lease commencement date at the aggregate amount of contracted lease payments, discounted utilizing the Institute's incremental borrowing rate or the lessor's implicit rate (if known). Nonlease components, such as maintenance, are accounted for separately by the Institute and are not included in the calculation of finance and operating ROU assets and liabilities. Some of the Institute's leases require variable payments that may depend on usage or output, and these variable payments are excluded in the measurement of ROU assets and liabilities.

k. Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

l. Related Parties

Members of the Institute's Board of Trustees and employees may, from time to time, be associated, either directly or indirectly, with companies doing business with Rensselaer.

The Institute requires members of the board and employees to disclose annually any significant financial interests in, or employment or consulting relationships with, entities doing business with it. These annual disclosures cover trustees, employees and their immediate family members. When such relationships exist, measures are taken to appropriately manage the actual or perceived conflict in the best interests of the relevant entity. There were no transactions outside of the normal course of business that are considered to be significant.

m. Accounting Standards to be Adopted

ASU No. 2016-13: Financial Instruments – Credit losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-13. The standard introduces the current expected credit losses methodology (CECL) for estimating allowances for credit losses, which requires organizations to estimate credit losses immediately upon exposure. Under the CECL model, management must also consider current conditions and reasonable and supportable forecasts of future events and circumstances, in addition to experience, to estimate expected credit losses for certain financial assets, including receivables that result from revenue transactions (trade receivables). The ASU is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2022. The adoption of ASU No. 2016-13 did not have a material impact on the Institute's financial statements.

3. Receivables

a. Accounts Receivable

The Institute's receivables are comprised of student related, research, training and other agreements and are reviewed and monitored for aging and collectability on a regular basis. Payment on any outstanding accounts receivables is generally expected to occur within the following fiscal year. There is also a corresponding allowance for uncollectible accounts at June 30, 2024 and 2023. Accounts receivable from the following sources were outstanding as of June 30:

	2024	2023
Student related receivables	$ 6,123	$ 4,625
Research, training and other agreements	14,817	20,800

Less: Allowance for doubtful accounts	(1,646)	(1,904)
Net accounts receivable	$ 23,089	$ 27,260

b. Contributions Receivable

Contributions receivable are expected to be collected as follows at June 30:

	2024	2023
Less than one year	$ 1,396	$ 1,654
Between one and five years	12,807	16,173

Less: Allowance for uncollectible amounts	(460)	(236)
Net contributions receivable	$ 17,330	$ 21,531

Bequest expectancies as of June 30, 2024, totaling $176,515 have been excluded from these amounts and are not recorded in the consolidated financial statements. In compliance with donor stipulations related to a $360,000 transformational gift received in 2001, revenue is being recognized as periodic cash payments are received. Revenue of $10,000 related to the transformational gift was recognized in 2024 and 2023, respectively.

c. Student Loans Receivable

Student loan programs are funded by many sources including institutional sources and governmental programs, including the Federal Perkins Loan Program. The amount received from the government's portion of the Perkins loan program is refundable to the federal government and reported as a liability on the Institute's statement of financial position. Federal Perkins Loan Program expired on September 30, 2017, and no new disbursements are permitted after June 30, 2018. The Institute began liquidation of its revolving fund in fiscal year 2019.

The Institute regularly assesses the adequacy of the allowance for credit losses relating to these loans by performing ongoing evaluations of the student loan portfolio, including such factors as the differing economic risks associated with each loan category, the financial condition of specific borrowers, the economic environment in which the borrowers operate, and the level of delinquent loans.

The following provides enhanced disclosures about the student loan receivables and allowances associated with the institutional and federal loan programs.

4. Split Interest Agreements

Split interest gift agreements consist primarily of irrevocable charitable remainder trusts, pooled income funds and charitable gift annuities for which the Institute is the remainder beneficiary. Assets held in these trusts are included in investments and recorded at their fair value when received. The value of split interest assets included in the investments at June 30, 2024 and 2023 were $11,962 and $11,260, respectively. Contribution revenues are recognized at the dates the trusts are established net of the liabilities for the present value of the estimated future payments to be made to the donors and/or other beneficiaries. The liabilities are adjusted during the term of the agreements for changes in the value of the assets, accretion of the discount and other changes in the estimates of future benefits. Discount rates range from 0.6% to 8.6%. The liability for the present value of deferred gifts of $5,658 and $5,845 at June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively, is based upon actuarial estimates and assumptions regarding the duration of the agreements and the rates to discount the liability. Circumstances affecting these assumptions can change the estimate of this liability in future periods.

Rensselaer is also beneficiary of certain perpetual trusts held and administered by others. The fair value of these trusts at June 30, 2024 and 2023 was $87,918 and $78,230, respectively and included in the investment balance. The present values of the estimated future cash receipts from the trusts are recognized as contributions from external trusts and contribution revenue at the date Rensselaer is notified of the establishment of the trust. Distributions from the trusts are recorded as investment income in the period they are received and the fair value of the institution's investment of those distributions are disclosed in Note 6. Changes in fair value of the trusts are recorded as gain or loss in with donor restrictions net assets.

In addition to these assets, a significant portion of the Institute's annual expenditures will be funded by current year operating revenues including tuition and grant and contract income. The Institute has a policy to structure its financial assets to be available as its general expenditures, liabilities, and other obligations come due.

	2024	2023

Additionally, within the endowment the Institute has board-designated funds of $140,933 and $139,484 and accumulated gains from unrestricted endowments of $98,135 and $86,544, at June 30, 2024 and 2023. Although the Institute does not intend to spend from this endowment, other than amounts appropriated for general expenditure as part of its annual budget approval and appropriation process or as subsequently approved by the Board of Trustees, amounts from its board-designated funds and accumulated gains from unrestricted endowments could be made available if necessary.

Foreign Equity

This category contains investments in non-U.S. developed and emerging market equities. These investments may be held directly by the Institute, or indirectly through outside managers that the Institute has hired for specific mandates. In addition, they are subject to a variety of liquidity restrictions that normally range from three days to three months.

Real Assets

In addition, they are long-term in nature and liquidity is asset specific.

Marketable Alternatives

This category contains investments in a variety of partnerships and similar entities focused on primarily marketable investments in the U.S and non-U.S. markets. The individual managers utilize a variety of strategies, including distressed, event-driven, long/short, relative value, global macro, and sector specific. Most of these investments have an initial lockup period and offer liquidity, thereafter, ranging from thirty days to one year.

Private Investments

This category contains investments in U.S. and non-U.S. partnerships and similar entities focused primarily on venture capital investments, buyouts, growth equity, real estate, infrastructure, commodity, and fixed income. The capital commitments made by the Institute are drawn down over time by the manager. As investments mature and/or are realized, distributions are made by the manager to the Institute during the life of the partnership, typically 10 years. The Institute does not have any redemption rights in these investments.

Perpetual Trusts

This category includes certain perpetual trusts held and administered by others for which Rensselaer is the beneficiary.

b. Spending From Endowment Funds

Rensselaer has adopted a “total return” policy for endowment spending. This approach considers current yield (primarily interest and dividends) as well as the net appreciation in the market value of investments when determining a spending amount. Under this policy, the Board of Trustees establishes a spending rate which is then applied to the average market value of investments. Current yield is recorded as revenue and the difference between current yield and the spending rate produces the use of realized gains spent under the total return formula.

c. Fair Value

The Institute is permitted under US GAAP to estimate the fair value of an investment at the measurement date using the reported Net Asset Value (NAV) without further adjustment unless the entity expects to sell the investment at a value other than NAV or if the NAV is not calculated in accordance with US GAAP. The Institute’s investments in private investments, real assets and marketable alternatives are fair valued based on the most current NAV.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

June 30, 2024 and 2023

(in thousands of dollars)

The Institute performs additional procedures including due diligence reviews on its investments in investment companies and other procedures with respect to the capital account or NAV provided to ensure conformity with US GAAP. The Institute has assessed factors including, but not limited to, managers' compliance with Fair Value Measurement standard, price transparency and valuation procedures in place, the ability to redeem at NAV at the measurement date, and existence of certain redemption restrictions at the measurement date.

The three levels are fair value hierarchies related to Institute valued and directly managed investments are:

- Level 1 Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities. Market price data is generally obtained from exchange or dealer markets.
- Level 2 Inputs other than Level 1 that are observable, either directly or indirectly, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the same term of the assets or liabilities. Inputs are obtained from various sources including market participants, dealers, and brokers.
- Level 3 Pricing inputs are unobservable and include situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the investment.

Directly managed corporate investments which can be redeemed at net asset value (NAV) by the Institute on the measurement date or in the near future are classified as Level 2. Directly managed investments which cannot be redeemed on the measurement date or in the near term are classified as Level 3.

The following table presents the financial instruments carried at fair value as of June 30, 2024 and 2023, by caption on the consolidated statements of financial position, based on the valuation hierarchy defined above:

Investments valued using the practical expedient primarily include Rensselaer's ownership in alternative investments (principally limited partnership interests in marketable alternatives, private investments, real estate, and other similar funds). The value of certain alternative investments represents the ownership interest in the NAV of the respective partnership and consists of securities that do not have readily determinable fair values. The fair values of the securities held by limited partnerships that do not have readily determinable fair values are determined by the general partner taking into consideration, among other things, the cost of the securities, prices of recent significant placements of securities of the same issuer, and subsequent developments concerning the companies to which the securities relate. The Institute regularly reviews and evaluates the values provided by the investment managers and agrees with the valuation methods and assumptions used in determining the fair value of these investments.

The Institute's investment holdings that are categorized as Level 3 investments primarily consist of interests in perpetual trusts of which the Institute is a named beneficiary and receives periodic cash distributions. They are classified as Level 3 due to the inability for the Institute to redeem or liquidate these interests. The interests are valued at the observable input of the corresponding trust investment value, adjusted ratably for the Institute's proportional beneficiary share. In aggregate, other investments classified as Level 3 for the years ended June 30, 2024 and 2023 were not material to the Institute's financial statements.

The methods described above may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, while the Institute believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different estimate of fair value at the reporting date.

7. Endowment

Rensselaer's endowment consists of approximately 821 individual donor restricted endowment funds and 91 board designated endowment funds for a variety of purposes plus assets that have been designated for endowment: pledges receivables, split interest agreements, and other net assets. The endowment includes both donor-restricted endowment funds and funds designated by the Board of Trustees to function as endowments. The endowment does not include any term endowments. The net assets associated with endowment funds are classified and reported based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions.

Endowment and similar funds are invested under the direction of the Board of Trustees to achieve maximum long-term total return with prudent concern for the preservation of investment capital. All investments of endowment and similar funds are recorded in the statements of financial position as long-term investments, including cash balances held by external investment managers. a. Interpretation of Relevant Law

The New York Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (“NYPMIFA”) became effective on September 17, 2010, and governs the management and investment of funds held by not-for-profit corporations and other institutions. Absent donor stipulations to the contrary, the statutory guidelines contained in NYPMIFA relate to the prudent management, investment and expenditure of donor-restricted endowment funds without regard to the original value of the gifts. However, NYPMIFA contains specific factors that must be considered prior to making investment decisions or appropriating funds for expenditure.

The Board of Trustees’ interpretation of its fiduciary responsibilities for donor-restricted endowment funds under New York State’s Not-for-Profit Corporation Law, including NYPMIFA, is to preserve intergenerational equity to the extent possible by prudently managing, investing, and spending from the endowment funds. This principle holds that future endowment beneficiaries should receive at least the same level of economic support that the current generation receives. As a result of this interpretation, the Institute classifies as with donor restrictions net assets the un-appropriated portion of (a) the original value of gifts donated to a true endowment fund, (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to a true endowment fund, and (c) accumulations to a true endowment fund made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument at the time the accumulation is added to the fund. Unspent appropriations related to donor-restricted endowment funds are classified as with donor restricted net assets until the amounts are expended by the Institute in a manner consistent with the donor’s intent. The remaining portion of donor-restricted endowment funds that are not classified as with donor restricted net assets are classified as without donor restricted net assets.

The Board of Trustees determines the appropriate amount to withdraw from endowment and similar funds on an annual basis to provide support for operations with prudent concern for the long-term growth in the underlying assets as well as the specific factors detailed in NYPMIFA. The Board-approved spending policy is designed to insulate endowment support for programming from short-term fluctuations in capital markets.

b. Funds With Deficiencies

From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual endowment funds may fall below the value of the initial and subsequent donor gift amounts. To the extent that a donor restricted endowment fund falls below its historic value a deficit would exist, and it would be reported as a reduction of net assets with donor restrictions. Subject to the terms of the gift, spending from an endowment fund in a deficit position would continue under the spending policy so long as the fund is impaired less than ten percent relative to its historical dollar value. When deficiencies exist, they are classified in the net asset category where the original gift was classified. Deficiencies reported in with donor restrictions net assets were $35 and $1,474 as of June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. Deficiencies reported in without donor restrictions net assets were $154 and $553 as of June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively.

Return Objectives and Risk Parameters

Rensselaer has adopted endowment investment and spending policies that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs supported by its endowment while seeking to maintain the purchasing power of endowment assets. Under this policy, the return objective for the endowment assets, measured over a full market cycle, shall be to maximize the return against a blended index, based on the endowment’s target allocation applied to the appropriate individual benchmarks. Rensselaer expects its endowment funds over time, to provide an average rate of return of approximately 8.5 percent annually. Actual returns in any given year may vary from this amount.

c. Strategies Employed for Achieving Investment Objectives

To achieve its long-term rate of return objectives, Rensselaer relies on a total return strategy in which investment returns are achieved through both capital appreciation (realized and unrealized gains) and current yield (interest and dividends). Rensselaer targets a diversified asset allocation that places greater emphasis on equity-based investments to achieve its long-term objectives within prudent risk constraints.

d. Endowment Spending Policy

The Board of Trustees of Rensselaer determines the method to be used to appropriate endowment funds for expenditure. Calculations are performed for individual endowment funds at a rate of 5.0 percent of the rolling 20 quarter average market value on a unitized basis one year subsequent to the calculation. From time to time the Board of Trustees may authorize a temporary increase in the spending rate to provide additional temporary support for Institute operations while ensuring the long-term sustainability of the endowment. In fiscal year 2024, the Board approved additional spending for strategic plan initiatives. The corresponding calculated spending allocations are distributed on a monthly basis from the current net total or accumulated net total investment returns for individual endowment funds. In establishing this policy, the Board considered the expected long-term rate of return on its endowment.

10. Retirement Plans

Defined Benefit Plans

The following table sets forth Rensselaer's defined benefit and postretirement plans' change in projected benefit obligation, change in plan assets, funded status (the postretirement plans are unfunded) and amounts recognized in Rensselaer's balance sheet at June 30, 2024 and 2023. The defined benefit plan calculations were based upon data as of or projected to June 30, 2024 and 2023. Postretirement benefit plan calculations were based upon data as of July 1, 2024 and 2023. Rensselaer's funding policy is based upon and is in compliance with ERISA requirements.

The Institute's amortization period used for actuarial gains and losses utilizes the expected future lifetime of inactive participants in the plan, which is reflective of the fact that greater than 90% of the pension plan participants are now inactive. Additionally, the Institute previously amended its pension plan as of June 30, 2014 to freeze all future benefit accruals for future service of all plan participants.

The components of net periodic benefit cost other than the service cost component are included in the line item "Other components of net periodic benefit cost". Service costs for the post-retirement plan are included in employee benefits expense. The defined benefit pension plan has no service cost related to active participants as the plan is frozen to future accruals. Administrative costs to maintain the plan are netted against expected return on plan assets and shown in other components of net periodic benefit cost on the Consolidated Statement of Activities.

The following are expected future benefit payments:

	Defined Benefit	Post Retirement
Fiscal Year Ending
2025	$ 25,881	$ 1,337
2026	25,306	1,413
2027	24,616	1,458
2028	23,782	1,579
2029	23,006	1,627
2030 - 2034	100,645	8,881

The weighted average rates forming the basis of net periodic benefit cost and amounts recognized in Rensselaer's statement of financial position at June 30 were:

	Defined Benefit		Post-Retirement
	2024	2023	2024	2023
Benefit obligations
Discount rate	5.50 %	5.25 %	5.50 %	5.25 %
Net periodic benefit cost
Discount rate	5.25 %	4.50 %	5.25 %	4.50 %
Expected return on plan assets	5.75 %	5.25 %

To arrive at assumptions for expected long-term rates of return on assets in the Defined Benefit Pension Plan, the Institute considered historical returns and future expectations for returns in each asset class in the asset allocation.

For measurement purposes, a 7.75 percent annual rate of increase in the per capita cost of covered pre-65 medical, post- 65 medical benefits and prescription drug benefits was assumed for fiscal year 2024. These rates were assumed to decrease gradually to 4.037 percent for fiscal year 2075 and remain at that level thereafter. A plan amendment established a maximum of $75 per month for retired employees who retire after normal retirement age. Once Rensselaer's share of medical premiums for Medicare eligible retirees reaches the $75 per month maximum, the health care cost trend rate will no longer have any effect except for grandfathered participants not subject to the cap and pre-65 coverage.

Defined Benefit Plan

In the aggregate, Rensselaer's Defined Benefit Plan will be invested to ensure solvency of the plan over its remaining life and to meet pension obligations as required. A secondary goal is to earn the highest net rate of return within prudent risk limits to ensure the achievement of the primary goal.

Defined Contribution Plan

Rensselaer and the Center also have noncontributory Defined Contribution Plans open to full-time employees who have met minimum service requirements. Contributions to these plans were $12,132 and $10,915 in fiscal 2024 and 2023, respectively.

Plan Investments

The Institute's Investment Committee maintains responsibility for the oversight and decision-making processes regarding fiduciary responsibilities associated with the investments that fund the Institute's defined benefit retirement plan. The Investment Committee weighs the risk factors associated with the investment of plan assets, seeking to invest assets in a manner that supports the plan's long-term horizon. A diversified mix of return-seeking and liability-hedging assets are utilized with the objective of achieving asset growth while providing sufficient liquidity to meet the plan's associated benefit payments and expenses.

The Plan contains features that allow participants to have a percentage of their benefits fluctuate based on the return of an S&P 500 index account. Rensselaer maintains assets in that index fund to hedge those liabilities that are not part of the above asset allocation.

Rensselaer's expected contributions for fiscal year ending June 30, 2025 are $1,955 and $1,337 to the defined benefit pension plan and postretirement plan, respectively.

11. Functional Expense Classification

Expenses are presented by functional classification in alignment with the overall mission of academic instruction and research of the Institute. Functional expenses are categorized as academic and research, student services and support, and general and administrative. Student services and support include various student-supporting functions such as admissions, health and career services, and athletics, as well as auxiliary services, including room and board and related student aid.

Natural expenses attributable to more than one functional expense category are allocated using reasonable cost allocation techniques. Depreciation, plant operations and maintenance expenses are allocated on a square footage basis. Interest expense on indebtedness is allocated to the functional categories that have benefited from the associated debt.

The following table compares expenses by type for the years ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively:
