

STATE BOARD FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGES VIRGINIA COMMUNITY COLLEGE SYSTEM

The Virginia Community College System's Brightpoint Community College (formerly John Tyler Community College) is a two-year public institution of higher education and operates under policies established by the State Board for Community Colleges. The College primarily serves residents in the cities of Colonial Heights, Hopewell and Petersburg, and the counties of Amelia, Charles City, Chesterfield, Dinwiddie, Prince George, Surry, and Sussex. The College is comprised of a Chester Campus, first established in October of 1967, and a Midlothian campus, which completed construction in 2000.

The Virginia Community College System's J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College is a two-year public institution of higher education and operates under policies established by the State Board for Community Colleges. The college primarily serves residents in the city of Richmond and the counties of Goochland, Hanover, Henrico and Powhatan. The college initially opened in 1972 and now has three campuses: Downtown Campus, Parham Campus, & Western Campus.

The Virginia Community College System's Tidewater Community College is a two-year public institution of higher education and operates under policies established by the State Board for Community Colleges. Founded in 1968, the college serves the South Hampton Roads region with campuses in Chesapeake, Norfolk, Portsmouth, and Virginia Beach.

The Virginia Community College System's Blue Ridge Community College is a two-year public institution of higher education and operates under policies established by the State Board for Community Colleges. Founded in 1967, the college serves the residents of the central Shenandoah Valley.

The Virginia Community College System's Germanna Community College is a two-year public institution of higher education in the Virginia Community College System. As a comprehensive community college, Germanna provides quality, accessible, and affordable educational opportunities for the residents of the City of Fredericksburg and the counties of Caroline, Culpeper, King George, Madison, Orange, Spotsylvania and Stafford. Founded in 1967, the college takes its name from a group of settlers at Germanna Ford on the Rapidan River, where in 1714, Governor Alexander Spotswood established a frontier fort and settlement for the German miners and their families. In 1956, descendants of the original settlers at Germanna Ford organized the Memorial Foundation of Germanna Colonies in Virginia, Inc. On June 5, 1969, the College Board unanimously chose the name Germanna Community College to recognize this generous gift, and the local history associated with it. The college held its first classes on October 13, 1970.

The Virginia Community College System's Virginia Western Community College is a two-year public institution of higher education operating under a statewide system of community colleges. The service region of the College includes Roanoke, Salem, Roanoke County, Craig County, southern Botetourt County, and northern Franklin County. Day, evening, and weekend classes are provided on a 70-acre campus located in Southwest Roanoke. Classes are also offered at off-campus locations in the area. The College was established in 1966 and has grown from an initial enrollment of 1,352 to its current enrollment of over 8,760.

Brightpoint, J. Sargeant Reynolds, Tidewater, Blue Ridge, Germanna, & Virginia Western Community College are 6 of 23 community colleges in the Virginia Community College System. This system is governed by the State Board for Community Colleges.
